The Biggest Bathtub

Duck drifts through the vast oceans of the world searching for her very own bathtub. Pushed and pulled by the waves, she meets animals from myriad marine environments as she is carried right around the globe. But Duck is just a plastic bath duck and can't swim where she chooses. Will she ever find her true home?

A 393-word picture book for 3-6 years

'The Biggest Bathtub' was inspired by the marine nature reserve on my doorstep and by the true story of the shipment of bath toys lost overboard, washing plastics ducks onto beaches across the world and bringing new learning about the ocean's currents. Duck's journey accurately follows these ocean currents, adding science and geography to the story's themes of powerlessness, friendship and belonging.

Both a beautiful gift title and a valuable resource for schools, museums and nature reserves, 'The Biggest Bathtub' will be loved by readers of 'We Are the Wibbly' by Sarah Tagholm and Jane McGuinness (Bloomsbury, 2025) and 'The Octopus Escapes' by Maile Meloy and Felicita Sala (G.P.Putnam's Sons, 2021).
